An affordable country wedding venue awaits you in Logsden, Oregon.

Nestled in a sun-dappled clearing in the Oregon Coast Range, this intimate venue feels like a secret the forest has been keeping — a quaint community center with doors that swing open to reveal a spacious lawn rimmed by giant fir trees. The air carries a clean, green scent and not far off, the beautiful Siletz River murmurs beneath the trees.

With room enough for your closest family and friends, and a price that won't send you into debt before your life together even begins, this is a place where a wedding feels like a celebration rooted in the quiet, unhurried beauty of the Oregon hills, where the only thing more stunning than the setting is the life you're about to build.
